

List of open recruitment for postdoctoral research staff. (July 2025)

No.	Institute	Research Department	Employment terms	Research theme	Research program	Skills or qualifications required by the position
1	Forestry and Forest Products Research Institute	Department of Forest Entomology	Postdoctoral research scientists (1 year). The basic salary ranges from about 460,000 JPY per month based on the Forestry and Forest Products Research Institute regulation. In addition, various allowances are paid if the conditions are fulfilled.	Research for Wood commodities systems approach	Invent a method of producing wood that is free of wood-boring insects through chemical analysis and field research.	(1) Applicants must possess a doctoral degree before the date of employment. (2) Applicants should have knowledge and skills in forest insect research based on community ecology and forest science, and a desire to be involved in wood commodities systems approach development work. (3) Applicants with experience in community statistical analysis, chemical analysis and insect identification are preferred. (4) Applicants should have excellent communication skills in English and Japanese.