

List of open recruitment for postdoctoral research staff. (October 2026)

Entry No.	Institute	Research Department	Employment terms	Research theme	Research program	Skills or qualifications required by the position
S1	Forestry and Forest Products Research Institute	Department of Forest Management	A postdoctoral research scientist position (six-month appointment). The project is subject to possible extension until March 31, 2029. Should the project be extended, the employment term may be renewed. The basic salary is approximately 500,000 JPY per month, in accordance with the regulations of the Forestry and Forest Products Research Institute. Additional allowances may be provided if the relevant conditions are met.	Life cycle assessment of Woody biomass production by short-rotation coppice (SRC) willow cultivation.	In order to visualize the potential greenhouse gas reduction effects, the project will implement a life cycle assessment (LCA) to quantitatively assess the environmental impacts of woody biomass produced through short-rotation coppice (SRC) willow cultivation.	(1) Applicants must hold a doctoral degree by the time of appointment. (2) Applicants should have a basic understanding of forest management and life cycle assessment (LCA). (3) Applicants should have excellent communication skills in Japanese.